Artist Statement: "Ilina Colemere is an intuitive art maker. Her moment of inspiration occurs with the first touch of the canvas. Her artwork is dusted with her DNA as her hands work to capture the spiritual conversation between the spirit of the canvas, her inner self, and her creative process. When she applies the first layer of medium with her hands and fingers, she allows the surface to guide her in creating ridged depressions with random unstructured shapes. These textured elements provide supporting layered channels for the intense, vibrant colors she uses to capture the story the canvas has to tell. These are orphaned embellishments until she adopts them as critical to the composition, as they provide a creative current for the visual articulation of her art "
