Artist Statement: My paintings begin with the primal joy of spreading color across a surface. After many layers of paint, marks and (often) collaged paper, shards of memories appear. Music I have listened to, books I have read, conversations and experiences I have had all make appearances in my work. Throughout the process, there is an ongoing dialogue between me and the painting that I am working on. My hope is that others can view my work and connect it to their own experiences.
