Artist Statement: "Sally Lewis is a realist oil painter whose work most often reflects the nuances of shape, color, and value. Working with a palette of vibrant colors, she loves to create images that "come to life and tempt the viewer to reach out to...touch,...taste,...smell..." Her recent work includes images of flowers, fruits and vegetables, birds, and animals done in oil and graphite. A retired mathematics educator, Sally began painting in 1963, and over the years also dabbled in decorative angel and nativity woodcrafts as well as Ukrainian painted eggs (pysanky). Her painting "Symbols of the Dance " was spotlighted in the Presbyterians Today magazine in 2007 and was featured at national and Texas church conferences. She has studied with the late San Antonio artist Mack Stewart, Houston artist Shalle Cozac-Haviv, and San Antonio area artists Karen McCauley and Joyce Bendele. Sally has participated in On & Off Fred Studio Tour every year except one and has usually helped with preparations for the event."
